MARKETING

The uniqueness of Acoshi Rabbit (ARBT) token project is featured on its transparency and community-driven approach and we believe that its success is only possible through the support and feedback from community members.

As such, we the team strive to maintain an open and honest dialogue with Acoshi Rabbit community, by regularly sharing updates on our progress and listening to the input and suggestions from community members either individually or collectively.

We the team recognized the importance of marketing in growing the project, thus ensure that such a need is taken into account, and that's why we set aside a 15% of token total supply for marketing. So as the project continues to grow, we may sell some of the marketing tokens to fund further development and marketing efforts.

However, we want to be transparent about the marketing token selling strategy, therefore we will always communicate our actions clearly to the community.

PARTNERSHIPS

We are always looking to establish partnerships to help boost the ecosystem and gain trust from new investors. So we are always open to potential partnership requests from other projects, companies and individuals.
